SOCIAL SECURITY

Almost every American reaching age 65 today is eligible for Social Security benefits on that birthday. Check your eligibility with our nearest Social Security district office at least three months before your 65th birthday. You may apply for these benefits at age 62 if you prefer, but early payment will reduce the monthly benefit amount for the rest of your life. Your Social Security district office can give you specific personal information. Take your birth certificate and Social Security card with you when you visit the SSA office.

The Social Security office also makes determinations on claims for disability benefits. Benefits are paid to people who are totally disabled, if they have worked five of the last ten years. A new program has taken the place of the federal-state programs of public assistance payments to aged, blind or disabled individuals. You may apply for this assistance, called "supplemental security income payments," at the SSA office.

HEALTH MEDICARE

People who are over 65 years of age or have been entitled to Social Security disability payments for 24 or more consecutive months are eligible for Medicare.

Medicare is a federal program that consists of two parts - hospital insurance and medical insurance. Hospital insurance helps pay the cost of inpatient hospital care as well as certain kinds of follow-up care. Medical insurance helps pay the cost of physicians' services, outpatient hospital services, and certain medical items and services not covered by hospital insurance.

People who use the medical insurance program must pay a basic monthly premium. Medicare hospital insurance is free of charge to people who are insured under Social Security.

Making informed decisions about home health or nursing homes can be difficult. Medicare has information that can help at www.Medicare.gov or call 800-Medicare.
