Sen. Dan Clemens to Testify Before the Missouri State Government Review Commission

JEFFERSON CITY—State Sen. Dan Clemens, R-Marshfield, will give testimony at the Missouri State Government Review Commission meeting at 9 a.m. on Friday, July 15, 2005, in the Hospitality Room at the Kenneth E. Meyer Alumni Center on the campus of Southwest Missouri State University.

Clemens plans to explain his history in competitive government bidding through his proposed 2004 legislation in SB1232 titled, "The Competitive Government Act." He also intends to express his support for Missouri's Department of Agriculture and their efforts in tough budget times.

Senator Clemens serves as Chairman of the Senate's Agriculture, Conservation, Parks and Natural Resources committee.

Gov. Matt Blunt established the 20-member commission in January to review every state department to determine ways to restructure, consolidate, or eliminate state government functions to offer Missouri citizens the best and most cost-effective service.
