Sen. Crowell Meets With MS Society Representatives

JEFFERSON CITY— Sen. Crowell, R-Cape Girardeau, this week welcomed to the Capitol members of the National Multiple Sclerosis society. The National Multiple Sclerosis society provides comprehensive services to more than 7,000 Missourians and 400,000 people nationwide.

Crowell met with senior level staff, board members, and volunteers Mark Trentham of Patton and Robin White of Jackson to discuss ways to increase MS awareness and advance key legislation.

“It was great to visit with Mark and Robin, and see how they are involved in advocating for and spreading the word about MS,” Crowell said. “The MS Society is crucial in teaching those living with MS how to adapt and maximize the quality of their lives. We have over 7,000 people in Missouri with MS, but when you factor in family members and friends, there are more than 20,000 Missourians affected by the disease.”

National MS Awareness Week is March 13-17. For more information or to volunteer, contact emily.jokerst@gatewaymssociety.org or call (314)781-9020.
