Teachers Association Honors Senator Jason Crowell

JEFFERSON CITY—The Missouri State Teachers Association (MSTA) today recognized Sen. Jason Crowell, R-Cape Girardeau, for his legislative commitment to promoting education while he served as Majority Floor Leader in the House and now as a state senator.

“I have always believed that investing time, money and energy into improving Missouri’s system of education results in a more vital economy, a stronger workforce and a brighter future for our state,” Crowell said. “I am incredibly honored to be recognized for upholding my beliefs and representing in the Senate the best interests of students and education providers.”

Association President Tami Pasley presented Crowell with the award during the morning ceremonies of the MSTA Lobby Day at the Capitol. Following the award presentation, Senator Crowell met with area MSTA members and discussed the association’s priority legislation.

This year the MSTA is celebrating 150 years of representing Missouri school teachers.
