Sen. John Loudon to Announce Initiative to Fix Missouri Roads and Bridges— Creating Jobs and Economic Growth

JEFFERSON CITY — Sen. John Loudon, R-Chesterfield, will announce a bold new initiative to spur economic growth and create jobs by investing in Missouri's transportation infrastructure. The plan, which would go into effect without a tax increase, is an answer to a funding crisis looming in fiscal year 2010. This much-needed investment in fixing and expanding Missouri's roads and bridges will provide a bounty of economic activity as new businesses are attracted to Missouri, adding thousands of jobs while increasing safety on state highways. Sen. Loudon will be unveiling the plan on Thursday in Jefferson City at 9 a.m. and in St. Louis at 1:30 p.m.
