Senator Jane Cunningham Launches Online Survey Seeking Constituent Input on Legislative Issues

District 7 Residents Encouraged to Share Opinions Online or Via Mail

JEFFERSON CITY — St. Louis County citizens in the 7th Senatorial District are invited to register their opinions on legislative issues affecting St. Louis County in an online survey recently launched by Sen. Jane Cunningham, R-Chesterfield.

District 7 residents may access the survey at www.senate.mo.gov/cunningham/survey by using their 9-digit zip code or may request a paper copy of the survey by calling Sen. Cunningham's office toll-free at 866-543-0420.

"I want to know what St. Louis County residents in my District think about the critical issues of the day," Sen. Cunningham said. "This survey is another important way I can receive feedback from them as I represent their interests in Jefferson City."

The online survey asks respondents to complete a series of questions on a variety of topics, including several of Sen. Cunningham's major priorities: property tax reform, economic development, job creation, education, and renewable energy. Also included are questions regarding abortion, agriculture, crime and law enforcement, elections, student protections, and transportation, among others. The survey also includes space for constituents' comments.

"The opinions of St. Louis Countians are important to me, and that's why I am asking constituents to consider taking a few moments to complete my online legislative survey to weigh in on these vital issues," Sen. Cunningham said.
