Senate Approves Wappapello Resident's Appointment to the Missouri State Safe Drinking Water Commission

JEFFERSON CITY – Senator Rob Mayer, R-Dexter, announces the Missouri Senate recently confirmed the nomination of Rodger Owens of Wappapello to the Missouri State Safe Drinking Water Commission.

The Safe Drinking Water Commission advises the Missouri Department of Natural Resources on various drinking water issues.

“With more than 25 years in the water and wastewater business, Rodger Owens is ideally suited to serve on the commission and will be a great asset to the commission’s work,” Sen. Mayer said.

Owens owns and operates several small water companies and is a member of the Missouri Rural Water Association and the Missouri Water and Wastewater Association.
