MEDIA ADVISORY

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri's newest member of the Senate, Sen. Joe Keaveny, D-St. Louis, is proud to announce the start of a new column, The Keaveny Connection, that is intended to help residents become aware of the government services available to them.

The Keaveny Connection will expound on the services that can be found in the Community Services Directory located on his senate website. This directory includes contacts for services throughout the district, including contact information for elected officials, youth programs and child care, consumer protection, family services, health, housing, senior citizen assistance, and much more.

The first edition of The Keaveny Connection will debut, Tuesday, January 19, although subsequent columns are targeted for Monday afternoons.
