Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Missouri, as follows:

Section A. Section 91.030, RSMo 1994, is repealed and one new section enacted in lieu thereof, to be known as section 91.030, to read as follows:

91.030. 1. Any city, town or village in this state, having authority to maintain and operate an electric light and power plant, may procure electric current for that purpose from any other city, owning and operating such plant, and to that end may enter into a contract therefor with such city having such plant.

2. Any city, town or village in this state, shall have the authority to maintain and operate a gas distribution system and may procure gas for that purpose from any source including but not limited to any gas corporation, supplier, pipeline, transportation company, distribution system, city, town or village, and to that end may enter into a contract with such gas corporation, supplier, pipeline, transportation company, gas distribution system, city, town or village to obtain such gas for resale.

3. Any city, town or village in this state, having authority to maintain and operate a gas distribution system may sell gas to non-residents of such city, town or village, unless said non-resident is already being supplied gas from an existing gas utility or city, town or village at the time of entry into the marketplace by the municipal gas distribution system. Distribution to non-residents under this section shall be considered a proprietary function.
