SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 16

WHEREAS, the Food Quality Protection Act of 1996 was signed into law on August 3, 1996, by President Clinton; and

WHEREAS, the Food Quality Protection Act establishes new safety standards that pesticides must meet to be newly registered or remain on the market; and

WHEREAS, the Food Quality Protection Act requires the Environmental Protection Agency to ensure that all pesticide tolerances meet these new Food Quality Protection Act standards by reassessing one-third of the 9,700 existing pesticide tolerances by August, 1999, and all existing tolerances in ten years; and

WHEREAS, the Food Quality Protection Act changes the types of information the Environmental Protection Agency is required to evaluate in the risk assessment process for establishing tolerances for pesticide residues in food and feed; and

WHEREAS, the Food Quality Protection Act was to assure that pesticide tolerances and policies are formulated in an open and transparent manner; and

WHEREAS, the Food Quality Protection Act further emphasizes the need for reliable information about the volume and types of pesticides being applied to individual crops and what residues can be anticipated on these crops; and

WHEREAS, risk estimates based on sound science and reliable, real-world data are essential to avoid misguided decisions, and the best way for the Environmental Protection Agency to obtain these data is to require data submission by the registrant through the data call-in process; and

WHEREAS, the implementation of the Food Quality Protection Act by the Environmental Protection Agency could have a profound negative impact on domestic agricultural production, and on consumer food prices and availability if products are removed from the market solely because of insufficient data; and

WHEREAS, the removal of these products will result in fewer pest control options for the United States and Missouri and could significantly disrupt successful integrated pest management programs which would be devastating to the economy of our state and jeopardize the very livelihood of many of our agricultural producers; and

WHEREAS, the removal of products because of a lack of information will result in fewer pest control options for urban and suburban uses, with potential losses of personal property, damage to valuable recreational areas and managed green space and increased human health concerns;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate of the Ninetieth General Assembly, First Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby ask that Congress direct the Environmental Protection Agency to immediately initiate appropriate public rulemaking to ensure that the policies, standards and procedures it intends to apply in reassessing existing pesticide tolerances are subject to public notice and comment prior to final tolerance determinations being made by the agency; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Environmental Protection Agency use sound science and real-world data from the data call-in process in establishing realistic models for evaluating risks; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Congress direct the Environmental Protection Agency to implement the Food Quality Protection Act in a manner that will not disrupt agricultural production nor negatively impact the availability, diversity, and affordability of food, threaten public health or diminish the quality of valuable recreational areas and managed green spaces; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Congress immediately conduct oversight hearings to ensure that actions by the Environmental Protection Agency are consistent with the Food Quality Protection Act provisions and Congressional intent; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the Missouri Congressional delegation and to the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.
