FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials at the Department of Revenue (DOR) assume this section (321.242) would change the current top sales tax rate of one-fourth of one percent to one half of one percent.

Under the parameters outlined under this section the Department currently collects from one jurisdiction. In FY 2018 the Raytown Fire Protection District collected $494,661.94. This was collected at the 0.25% rate. Total taxable sales amounted to $197.9 million. With an increase of the tax to 0.5% the Raytown Fire Protection District would collect an estimated $989,323.88. The Department would collect a 1% collection fee, which would go to General Revenue. This would be an estimated additional $4,946.26 to General Revenue if passed by voter approval.

The Department sees no administrative cost for this proposed legislation.

Officials at the Office of Administration Division of Budget and Planning (B&P) assume this allows increasing the sales tax for the described fire protection district from 0.25% up to 0.50% for the purpose of funding fire protection.

According to the State Demographer, the description of any first class county in subsection 1 has population parameters that fit the population of the City of Ballwin. However, the exclusion of a first class county with a population in excess of 900,000 would mean that St. Louis County, where the City of Ballwin is located, would not be among the fire protection districts or municipalities imposing this sales tax increase. In fact, a demographic search of first class counties does not yield any city that meets the population parameters of 30,000 to 35,000 inhabitants.

The sponsor's Senate floor discussion indicates that the intent is to allow Kansas City to increase its current sales tax from one-fourth of one percent to one-half of one percent. The second half of the description (after the "or" in 321.242.1) covers Kansas City.

The DOR collection amount would impact Total State Revenue. Because the sales tax increase would be subject to voter approval, there would be no impact to the calculation of Article X, Section 18(e).

Officials at the City of Kansas City assume this legislation would have a very positive fiscal impact on the City, if the voters approve the increased sales tax authorized by such legislation, because it would generate increased revenues of approximately $20.9 million annually.

ASSUMPTION (continued)

Officials at the City of Springfield assume there is a potential positive fiscal impact. The impact is expected to be less than $100,000.

Oversight notes that §321.242 currently allows certain fire protection districts or municipal fire departments to impose a sales tax rate upon a vote of its people at a rate of one-fourth of one percent for the district. As pointed out by DOR, the impacted fire protection district is Raytown, as well as all “municipality having a municipal fire department”. This proposal would change the language to allow “up to one-half of one percent” which would allow the fire protection district(s) or municipal fire departments under this section the flexibility to choose their sales tax amount up to one-half of one percent. Oversight is unclear as to exactly which fire protection district(s) or municipalities would fall under this increased rate and act to impose or increase their sales tax rates. Oversight will show the impact as $0 (none take action or not approved by voters) to Could exceed the full amount that Raytown could collect of $989,324 and the amount DOR would get to retain (1%).

FISCAL IMPACT - Small Business

No direct fiscal impact to small businesses would be expected as a result of this proposal.

FISCAL DESCRIPTION

Current law authorizes certain fire protection districts and municipalities having a municipal fire department to propose to the voters a sales tax not to exceed 0.25% for the operation of the fire protection district or municipal fire department. This act increases the maximum rate to 0.5%.

This legislation is not federally mandated, would not duplicate any other program and would not require additional capital improvements or rental space.
